							A review was undertaken of DPIE advice in relation to sludge management, existing site layouts and available space. It was identified that DPIE's proposed residuals stream would not be practicable and would add significant cost to the project. Further consultation was undertaken with DPIE and it was agreed to return to the previous strategy. DPIE advice in relation to odour control has been considered and initial options have been identified for inlet collection chamber arrangements. It has been identified that the options / routes selected for the ultimate diversion of catchments from South Kempsey and Frederickton may meaningfully impact on full flow commissioning of the STP. Hunter H2O have been briefed with data pertaining to potential routes for diversions and will undertake preliminary assessment of feasible routes, environmental constraints and issues of flow rate / residence time to inform the inlet collection structure and odour control strategy. This may determine if the odour solution is to be prescriptive or performance based. Development of the Central Kempsey STP contract documents (PPR and reference design) is expected to progress well through 2022.
